

JUN 25 1955

Aq 3-1

Sanitized - Approved For Release : CIA-RDP70-00058R000100060064-4
NEW YORK WORLD-
TELEGRAM and SUN

Circ.: e. 518,809

Front Page Edit Other
Page Page Page

CPYRIGHT

Date:

Safety Pinch

By ANDREW TULLY,
Scripps-Howard Staff Writer.

(over)

Sanitized - Approved For Release : CIA-RDP70-00058R000100060064-4

CPYRGHT

WASHINGTON—Aside from the White House itself, the two safest places to live in Washington are in the immediate vicinity of 2748 32nd St., or 3825 Wisconsin Ave. in Georgetown.

That's because a couple of guys named Dulles live at those addresses—Secretary of State John Foster on 32nd Street, and Central Intelligence Boss Allen W. on Wisconsin Avenue. And since both men are guarded around the clock, local baddies avoid the neighborhoods like they were radioactive.

There was the guy, for instance, who was passing by a friend's house near the John Foster Dulles diggings one early morning. He saw his friend's car at the curb and decided to leave a comic message on it. But as he was about to affix the message to the windshield wiper, a suave-type dick approached and flashed his badge.

"That's not your car, sir," said the aristocratic flatfoot. "May I ask what you are doing?"

Flustered, the guy explained—but had to show the note to the cop before he was allowed to go his way.

Note: Allen Dulles' phone number is in the Washington directory—it's KEllogg 7-1929. But John Foster's number is unlisted.